

Protecting Consumers Post GST Implementation

On account of implementation of GST there may be instances where the retail sale price printed on a pre-packaged commodity is required to be revised. To protect the interests of consumers the Department has issued an order

according to which, manufacturers/ packers/importers of pre-packaged commodities are allowed to declare the revised retail sale price (MRP), after implementation of GST by way of stamping or putting sticker or online printing, as the case may be, on the unsold stock manufactured/packed/imported, if any, in addition to the existing retail sale price (MRP), upto 31st March, 2018. Use of un-exhausted packaging material/wrapper has also been similarly allowed upto 31st March, 2018 after making necessary corrections. The said information has been disseminated to all the stakeholders and Controllers of Legal Metrology of all States/UTs for immediate action.

Why Indians shy away from visiting a dentist in different zones of the country?

Dental health indicates the over-all health of an individual, yet is often treated as a step-child. Indians are mostly ignorant towards their oral health and have been guilty of not maintaining a healthy dental regime. We often find a way to escape a visit to the dentist. And once in a while, when there is a tooth ache, either a home remedy like Clove or a local chemist's advice is sought.

Only 10% Indians visit a dentist regularly, revealed a Consumer Usage & Attitude Study (CUAS), 2016 - a periodic survey commissioned by Colgate and implemented by IMRB. The survey shows that 57% Indians have never visited a dentist till now owing to apathy or expensive dental services. 40% of people believe that oral care problems do not need consultation from dentists - 65% of this population resides in Northern India. People in North India are habituated to using of home/herbal remedies instead. 62% residents in East India believe that they are not suffering from any problem hence they don't need to visit a dentist. Kanika Mann takes Haryanvi lessons for Badho Bahu

Actress Kanika Mann is leaving no stone unturned to play the role of an athlete in &TV's popular show Badho Bahu. Be it her appearance, her costumes or her long hours practice to be a real athlete, Kanika is putting in extra time and efforts to perfect her role. However, the first and the biggest road block that she is facing is her command over the language and is on a mission to learn the Haryanvi dialect. In the show, Kanika has to speak in hardcore Haryanvi which is currently her biggest challenge. The actress is seen rehearsing her dialogues number of times to get rid of her Punjabi accent and get the diction right. Initially she started practising by watching Kangana Ranaut's videos from the movie 'Tanu Weds Manu: Returns'. Now the actress is also seen taking special assistance and time from a teacher who especially visits the set. Talking about the same, Kanika said "Initially reading the script used to make me nervous as its difficult to imitate Haryanvi diction. Being a Punjabi, I faced a lot of difficulty while reading the lines at length. Though it's easier after the support extended to me, I still go back to watching videos of Kangana from 'Tanu Weds Manu'. I would not only like to look the role but walk and talk like a true Haryanvi. (19-8)
